

ISOFOTON LAUNCHES A NEW WEBSITE FOR THE GERMAN MARKET

- The new website will be up and running from Wednesday 27th onwards, coinciding with the start of Intersolar Trade Fair.
- It will offer specific information on Isofoton products and services, focusing on the German market.

Madrid, 27 May 2009. Isofoton, European manufacturer of cells and modules, is launching a new website focused on the German market. The new website will offer German clients information on products, quality and services in a practical, accessible way.

You can go straight to the new site at www.isofoton.de.com or go through the company website www.isofoton.com.

Through the new website, Isofoton continues to strengthen its marketing strategy in Germany, a market in which it has a new Commercial Network, in order to be in closer proximity to German clients, thus offering a better service.
